

Paul L. & Carolyn Errington Award

Application Deadline: February 19, 2019

The Paul L. and Carolyn Errington Award is presented annually to a graduate student in English who demonstrates excellence in environmental literary criticism. This award honors Paul L. and Carolyn Errington for the many contributions they made to the advancement of the environmental humanities. The amount of this award is $300.

To apply, complete this form and attach an expository essay originally written for an ISU graduate English course. The essay should be a work of—or on a subject directly related to—environmental literary criticism. The selection of a recipient will be made by a committee of faculty members from the Department of English and will be based upon the clarity and effectiveness of the submitted essay. Submissions must be typed, double-spaced, and no longer than 30 pages, with a recommended length of 12–20 pages.

Completed applications (including this page) should be returned to 203 Ross Hall.
