

RPC COLLOQUIUM

Wednesday, Feb. 13 / 11:00-11:50 / Ross Hall 212

Join us as our Rhetoric and Professional Communication colleagues share their work from current research projects.

Carolyn S. Gonzalez

First Generation College Students and the First-Year Communication Classroom as Contact Zone

Nearly one-fourth of incoming ISU students are first generation college students. Carolyn will explore how the first-year communication classroom can serve as a contact zone in which first generation college students can learn the role of being a student and define academia in a way that best suits their needs.

Derek Hanson

User Experience of ePortfolio Support Platform

Derek will discuss the Online Learning Team's ePortfolio support platform, share the results of a pilot study testing the user experience of an ePortfolio support article, and outline his plans for a full usability study of user documentation for ePortfolios.